

Filing taxes can feel like a confusing, intimidating and even expensive process for many people. Families may not know what paperwork they need or what credits they're eligible to receive.

We believe everyone in our community should receive the tax credits and refunds they're owed, so they can move toward financial stability. Thanks to your investment, Mile High United Way connects families to critical tax credits, like the Family Affordability Tax Credit and Colorado Child Tax Credit. The resulting refunds help families pay for housing, education, transportation, health care and other critical services. You help families receive what may be their biggest check all year by supporting Tax Help Colorado.

WHAT WE'RE DOING:

Tax Preparation

Our staff and volunteers provide free, high-quality tax preparation services for low- and middle-income Colorado families. In 2025, we served families with a household income of $67,000 or less.

Volunteering

More than 500 volunteers speaking 30 languages volunteered with Tax Help Colorado during the 2025 tax season. Anyone can volunteer – no financial experience is necessary, just a desire to serve. Visit taxhelpco.org to learn how you can volunteer with us to help create change for families.

Community Partnerships

We partner with community colleges, nonprofits and central service providers to host tax sites all across Colorado.

WHO YOU'RE HELPING

Earlier this year we prepared taxes for Mia, an early childhood educator. Through her work, Mia qualified for the Colorado Early Childhood Educator tax credit, which resulted in a refund of $1,100 for her certification level.

While her tax return was being prepared, Mia shared her passion for early childhood education, talking about how fulfilling she finds the work and that serving young children and their families feels like a calling. When Mia learned about her refund, she said she plans to use the money to pay for additional education so she can improve at her job and advance in her career.
